

Questions to Push Students' Thinking for Student-Led Conferences

Use these questions to push students thinking when preparing for student led conferences.

Social Emotional

- How are you getting along with other kids in the class? In the school?
- How are your relationships with the adults in the school?
- Who do you work well with in your classes?
- How are you feeling about school right now? Why do you come to school?

Academic

- What do you think is your strongest subject? Why do you think that?
- What subject has been hardest for you this year? Why do you think that?
- Is there anything we've been doing in school that is not making sense to you or that you think you need to do better in?
- How have you been using your time in class?

Goals

- What are your goals for the rest of the 3rd quarter? The rest of the year?